Regulatory body

This means another body that is created by a provincial or federal statute that regulates a specific profession in the public interest (i.e. another college). It does not include membership in professional associations (e.g. OKA, OATA). It can apply to organizations in and outside Canada.

Regulatory proceeding

A regulatory proceeding includes the following:

- a) If a panel of the Inquiries, Complaints and Reports Committee (ICRC) of another health regulatory college in Ontario has made an interim order regarding an on-going investigation (or equivalent in another jurisdiction)
- b) If a panel of the ICRC of another health regulatory college in Ontario has directed that the member appear before a panel of the ICRC to be cautioned or directed the member to complete a specified continuing education and remediation program (SCERP)
- c) If a panel of the ICRC of another health regulatory college in Ontario has referred allegations of professional misconduct or incompetence to the Discipline Committee or has referred the member to the Fitness to Practise Committee (or equivalent in another jurisdiction) for incapacity concerns

Unsafe incident

An unsafe incident by another kinesiologist would include:

- a) An incident that caused serious harm to a patient/client
- b) An incident that could reasonably be seen as likely to cause serious harm to a patient/client
- c) An incident indicating that the kinesiologist may be incapacitated. Incapacity means that a kinesiologist may be suffering from a physical or mental condition or disorder that affects their practice and may reasonably be seen as likely to harm patients/clients
- d) A series of incidents that may reasonably be seen as incompetent. Incompetence means that a kinesiologist's professional care displayed a lack of knowledge, skill or judgment of a nature or to an extent that demonstrates that the kinesiologist is unfit to continue practising

When deciding whether or not an incident is serious enough to warrant a report, kinesiologists are encouraged to speak with their employer and/or the College.
